Celebrating success

Achievement points are always up for grabs for effort in lessons. In addition, for year 11 students the RS department are offering points for additional revision and attendance at the revision sessions. Each 5 points = 1 entry in the end of term prize draw.

A number of students have now been entered into the prize draw. Don't forget to show your extra work to your teacher so they can add your points. You can do this online or in lessons.

Lessons this fortnight

This fortnight in religious studies we have been revising the topic of Islam in preparation for the mock exams. This has included the concepts of Tawhid, Jihad and the Five Pillars.

Revision tip

Seneca is a revision tool all students at Campion have been introduced to. In order to access revision materials for the mock exams go to resources, Religious Studies, GCSE, AQA.

After School revision sessions

These started on  Wednesday 27th and will run every Weds until the exams in the summer. They are held in A13 3.15-4:15. Well done to those who attended and we hope you found it useful. Spread the word!

Mock exams

The mock exam in November will cover the following areas. These should be prioritised for revision:

- Christian beliefs
- Christian practices
- Muslims beliefs and
- Muslim practices

Religious Studies homework for year 11's will be posted regularly on Google classroom. The second lot has now been set. For many classes there is both compulsory homework and optional revision homework. Don't forget to show your teacher if you do something extra for an achievement point and an entry into the raffle
